

Technical Assistant

Hoyer Motors, Denmark

Do you want to be part of a company in growth? At Hoyer Motors we want to strengthen the global technical department and are therefore seeking a Technical Assistant.

The department supports the documentation and development of the product range including technical support to our sales department and customers. You will be part of an international department which also includes a technical team in China.

As our Technical Assistant your main area of responsibility will be data processing of technical motor documentation and mechanical design drawings. You will over time become the technical department's documentation expert and will maintain our technical documentation.

We are looking for a structured and detail oriented colleague. In your daily work you will collaborate closely with your colleagues in the technical team as well as colleagues in other departments at Hoyer. Your main tasks includes:

- Maintain and develop technical motor data
- Maintain and develop technical design drawings in Solid Works
- Be the internal key person regarding technical data and CAD drawings
- Manage technical inquiries regarding documentation and offer solutions with short notice
- Internal technical support and training
- Ad hoc projects.

Qualifications:

- Technical designer/Technical assistant
- Preferably 3D CAD user
- Experience in handling huge datasets
- Technical knowledge and interest – preferably regarding electric motors
- Strong language skills; English as working language – oral and written. German is an advantage but not required

We offer:

- Reputable company
- Good teamwork between all staff
- Good employee relations
- A versatile position with career opportunities

We look forward to receiving your application and CV in either English or Danish. Please attach the files as Word or PDF and mark the e-mail "Technical Assistant". Apply via job@hoyermotors.com
